The Grandeur of Work

Some very significant statements appearing recently in the newspapers and magazines are worthy of repetition as pointing a moral to all individuals, communities and nations.

Several of these articles comment on the rapid and strong "comeback" staged by Germany. Following the signing of the peace treaty the German people found themselves relieved of the burden of maintaining a huge standing army and a large and expensive navy, but on the other hand, they had sustained the loss of all their colonies, practically all their mercantile shipping, and, like all countries, were faced with the re-organization of their industries from a war to a peace basis, and, in addition, their whole overseas export trade had been destroyed. Their money was valueless, and they were compelled to assume enormously heavy taxation to make good their losses and pay their reparation bills. There was only one solution to their difficulties, and that was for everybody to go to work, and work hard and long. They did so, and now the whole world is witnessing the spectacle of a rehabilitated Germany which is rapidly becoming prosperous.

Italy, too, was impoverished by the war. Her money was valueless; her industries in bad shape; her public debt huge, and many of her people of an indolent type, preferring to beg rather than work. It appeared that the whole country would fall into the hands of Bolshevik Socialists. Mussolini arose as a dictator and saved the situation by prohibiting begging, ordering everybody to go to work, and re-organizing the industries of the country and prohibiting the importation of luxuries. As a result a new Italy is arising, presenting a sharp contrast to Russia where idleness languishes and is largely destroyed, and unemployment is everywhere rife.

Probably the two most prosperous countries in the world today are the United States and Canada, and they are two countries where everybody, generally speaking, is willing and anxious to work, and, in fact, are at work. The aristocracy of these two nations are the workers, and the men and women to whom all look up are those who by their own efforts have achieved a marked success in life. Sometimes it is even charged that in the United States and Canada the people make too great a god of work, but at least it has brought peace and contentment at home, prosperity, and a high standard of living.

Now turn to another picture and view conditions in a country where, because of strikes and industrial upheavals, approximately two million men are not at work. The prolonged strike of the coal miners in Great Britain is working havoc in all directions, and not on the miners and mine owners alone. Following the general strike called to assist the miners, and which ended in complete failure, hundreds of thousands of workers, other than miners, were unable to get employment. Unemployment figures increased over May and June last by over 650,000. Industry in every line is suffering, the standard of living has been lowered, and Government revenues have failed to such an extent that the country is faced with a huge deficit this year. Even Canada suffers because of the inability of the people to buy wheat, butter, cheese, and other products we have to export. The effect of the miners' strike on their fellow workers is further disclosed by the announced inability of the Railwaymen's Union to meet the levy made on it to support the striking miners. No less than 45,000 railway men have not yet been given employment since the general strike in May last, while 200,000 more are working only three days a week. The same thing is true in scores of industries.

The lesson to be learned from these several sets of conditions is that, much as people may grumble about their work, and being obliged to work, the fact remains that in work lies the salvation of the race. All work and no play may make Jack a dull boy, but no work soon results in moral and physical degeneration. The workings of the present age on this continent are the sons and daughters of the rich who lack any incentive to work and who, finding time hard heavily on their hands, indulge in all sorts of foolishness and excesses. They are discontented, unhappy, useless, and fill the night clubs and divorce courts.

On the other hand, real happiness is experienced today by the men and women who are doing the world's work. Work is their salvation and their joy, and in their hours of leisure they are both mentally and physically capable of extracting real fun and enjoyment out of whatever form their recreation may take. They find satisfaction and not infrequently glory in their works of achievement, and at the same time are adding to the advancement of their fellow men and the greatness and prosperity of their country.

There is something radically wrong with the man or woman who objects to working, and who can find no pleasure in it, and the sooner boys and girls are taught the nobility of work, and the satisfaction to be derived from any job well done, the better it will be for themselves as well as for others.

When, opened recently a 3,000-year-old jar of perfume found in an Egyptian tomb still retained its fragrance.

Men who try to keep up appearances often find it necessary to keep up appearances later on.

Improving On Nature

Scientists Making Over Life to Suit Their Own Ideas

Somehow the scientists seem determined to leave nothing as it was ordered by nature, and to make over life after their own ideas of fitness. Now one of them predicts the discovery of a way of doing away with sleep, through the means of a chemical reaction, that will eliminate the toxic products of fatigue. Eight hours of work and sixteen hours of leisure and recreation is his vision. Poor old nature! How much more man knows—or thinks he knows—than she does!—Youth's Companion.

A FINE TONIC FOR NERVOUS-WOMEN

Proof That Building Up the Blood Will Strengthen the Nerve

If you want strong nerves you must make the effort yourself. You can help yourself by refusing to worry, by taking the proper rest, sleep and out-door exercise. For medicine take only Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which properly build up the blood and thus feed the starved, frayed nerves.

A case of extreme nervous exhaustion restored by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is that of Mrs. R. Dundas, Peterboro, Ont., who says: "Some years ago I suffered a complete nervous breakdown. I doctored with two local doctors, but got no relief. In fact I was growing worse and weaker all the time. In this condition my mother came to take care of me and urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as she had taken them all through the change of life with splendid results. At this time I felt so far gone that I did not care whether I lived or not. But the coating of my mother's advice finally persuaded me to try the pills. By the time I had taken a few boxes I was feeling a little improved and was able to move around. As I kept on taking the pills I felt myself able to go out and make a practice of going to a nearby store every second week to weigh myself, and I gained rapidly from 105 to 135 pounds. I continued taking the pills for several months, and it is impossible for me to express in words the wonderful results. Nobody but myself knows the tortures I endured from nerve trouble, and now, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I am a normal, healthy woman. I do not think anyone troubled as I was can find a better remedy than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

If your dealer does not keep the pills you can get them by mail at 60¢ a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Waterways of Prairie Provinces Of Greater Commercial Importance In the Early Days of the West

The waterways of the prairie provinces have little commercial importance in the transportation systems of today. They are, however, points of the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa, rich in the romance of history. The earliest explorers to reach the prairie came by canoe. The rapidly expanding fur trade soon created activity along the many water routes embraced within the limits of the province and made famous by two centuries of use by canoe, York boat and scow. The Assiniboine, Qu'Appelle and Souris, with Manitoba's famous Red River, were for long years the highways of commerce and discovery for the adventurers of New France, or the traders of the Hudson's Bay Company striking in from York Fort, both anxious to extend the other in securing the posts of the prairies or gaining a foothold in the valley of the Missouri. The mighty Saskatchewan, most famous of all, and which gives its name to this province, is the outstanding river of the prairies of Canada. Two main branches, the north and the south, which with their tributaries constitute the entire drainage of three hundred miles of the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains, until below Prince Albert and enter lake Winnipeg.

For many years the Canadian Pacific was the only railway of Western Canada, and, as it crossed the southern parts of the prairies, the Saskatchewan river became the highway for the north. With the completion of the stern-wheeled river boats, plied regularly the waters of the main branch from Grand Rapids at Lake Winnipeg to Prince Albert, Battleford, Fort Pitt (now in ruins), and even up to Edmonton, in the adjoining province of Alberta. The south branch was also navigated past the present city of Saskatoon, around the "big bend," and up to the forks of the Red River, at the western boundary of the province, and sometimes beyond as far as Medicine Hat. Like the historic boats of the Mississippi, those of the Saskatchewan have almost disappeared, as the more speedy overland routes have encroached on their territory. The Battle, Carleton and Torch rivers are tributaries now chiefly used in rafting logs to the mills.

Another famous waterway is the Churchill river. Colonial fortunes in furs were transported by this route. The Athabasca brigades, paddling up the Clearwater and passing their huts for the cartographer and the naturalist. Along with the delimitation of lands newly discovered may go exploration to solve a riddle of history. That is work to which Donald R. MacMillan has been devoting himself. He has been seeking to determine whether or not there are evidences of Norse settlements in Labrador to supplement the undoubted evidences of the Greenland occupation. Further effort in this direction may add an interesting chapter to world history by showing what caused the disappearance of the Norsemen who are known to have been settled in Greenland for the space of several centuries.

interesting route leading from Reindeer lake on the east to Athabasca lake on the west by way of Wollaston, Hatch and Black lakes, Black river and Fond du Lac. The Cree river enters Black lake from the north, while to the north a canoe route, broken by numerous portages, leads to the home of the Eskimo, in the great "barren lands." Though not of great commercial importance, these northern routes offer unexcelled attractions to the lover of the great lone land who seeks an opportunity to enjoy an outing far from the nerve-racking worries of his every-day duties.

Cannot Explain Phenomena

Area in B.C. Where Vegetation Attains Enormous Proportions

A region on Vancouver Island where men "get marvelous completions," a sort of "sea fairies," is described by Francis Dickie, the author, who has spent many years collecting data on the wonders of this part of the Pacific coast.

"This marvel," he says, "is easily explained by the possibility of a section of arsenic in the water. There is another spot on the west coast of Vancouver Island where dead matter, such as fish and meat, does not decay when thrown upon the ground. This arsenic miracle has also probably a chemical explanation.

"Again, in another part, the vegetation attains enormous proportions, wild peas growing to the size of marbles, and the wild berries large in proportion. In this same region, on the Brooks peninsula, are to be found a whole forest of hemlock trees, with abnormal branches; the branches grow thickest towards the ends, and then give off clusters of root-like little branches. The explanation of this phenomena has yet to be reinforced.

History In Far North

Seeking to Determine Evidence of Norse Settlements in Labrador

We speak of Arctic "wastes," but the word is hardly appropriate. The far north teems with life. Its brief summer sets flowers blooming on the edge of the ice fields. And it has its appeal for the archeologist as well for the cartographer and the naturalist. Along with the delimitation of lands newly discovered may go exploration to solve a riddle of history. That is work to which Donald R. MacMillan has been devoting himself. He has been seeking to determine whether or not there are evidences of Norse settlements in Labrador to supplement the undoubted evidences of the Greenland occupation. Further effort in this direction may add an interesting chapter to world history by showing what caused the disappearance of the Norsemen who are known to have been settled in Greenland for the space of several centuries.

Annexing More Territory

Holland Wages Contentious Battle With Sea and Land is Being Reclaimed

Holland, or the Netherlands has long been a classic example of what can be achieved by unceasing industry and thrift. Much of the country has been reclaimed from the sea and required the protection of the famous dykes before it could be turned to profitable account. Now have the Dutch people been content to wage a constant battle with the waves in order to hold what has been gained. Soon they will acquire a new province by force of arms, but no European chancellery will dispute the Dutch method of acquiring it. For it will be created not from some weaker state, but from Father Neptune's undersea domain.

Holland has had its own Iroquois region since the twelfth century. That expanse of salt water about eighty-five miles long and from ten to forty-five miles broad, known as the Zuider Zee, was once dry except for a small inland lake. Throughout the eleventh and twelfth centuries the sea kept cutting at its gates kept blowing its loose, sandy soil away, and the whole topography of the country was altered.

Year after year with the skill, determination and patience characteristic of their race the Dutch have been fighting to regain their lost territory, foot by foot, inch by inch. Engineering operations of great complexity have been carried through to reclaim it. Great dykes have been constructed, altered, repaired and reinforced. In the main the effort has been successful, but the sea is an enemy that never weary and never becomes discouraged, and often, in a few hours of rage it has been able to undo human achievements that cost heavy toll and much treasure.

The area to be reclaimed amounts to more than half a million acres, and is expected to provide support for fully half a million individuals. In a country so thickly populated as the Netherlands this is of considerable importance, fully justifying the expenditures involved.

How long it will take to finish the job cannot be foretold. It may take twenty years longer. The Dutch are not greatly worried about that. The Zuider Zee was not made into a weekend, nor is it to be unmade so easily.

A parachute was used in this test, but a crate dropped 110 feet without a parachute sustained the impact so well that only nine of thirty dozen were broken.

Human Traits of Black Bear

(A) Bear cub sleeping west. (B) Black bear family in native haunt.

It's a "dirty-dirty" proposition with Canadian black bears, the most popular wild animals in the north of the Canadian Rockies. They have not retained man's intrusion but instead have exhibited an ever-increasing curiosity about man's affairs. In the vicinity of Banff and Lake Louise they have become so tame that it is a common sight to see them amble across the roads, and even stop for a sign of recognition from the tourist.

An English lady was visiting Chateau Lake Louise, in the Canadian Rockies, and noticed above all else in a bear. She chose a likely spot

An Aid To Cultivation

Wireless Has Brought Remarkable Results to English Gardener.

There is an allotment at West Bridgford, two miles southeast of Nottingham, England, where tomato plants are giving tremendous yields out of all proportion to any others in the locality, where hollyhocks laden with giant blooms, are approaching ten feet in height, and where sweet peas are so prolific that they are the wonder of the district says "The London Mail."

The owner, William Root, who is the rolling stock superintendent of the Nottingham Corporation Tramways, attributes it to the fact that by chance last year he fixed copper wires, accidentally insulating them, on which to train his tomato plants. To his astonishment these plants made vigorous growth and the fruit ripening while that on the plants of other growers was still green.

Searching for the cause, he said, he came to the conclusion that he had by insulating his copper training wires, brought wireless to his aid in cultivation. When he developed this theory by fixing miniature wireless aerials, properly insulated over other growing plants he found confirmation of his theory in the results.

The aerials stimulated growth in a manner which leaves all other fertilizers behind. Whether the proximity of the Nottingham broadcasting station has anything to do with Mr. Root's remarkable results has yet to be determined.

Japanese Rulers Grow Their Own Vegetables

Gardens Occupy Many Acres and Include Several Hot-houses

All the fruits and vegetables for the dining tables of the Emperor and Empress, Prince Regent and Princess Nakako, are grown in the Shinjuku Palace gardens by expert gardeners and carefully inspected in order that no fatal mistake be permitted to reach the Imperial stomachs.

The gardens occupy several acres and include a number of large hot-houses. All varieties of vegetables are raised during the entire year. When the royal family is away on vacation, these special vegetables and hot-house flowers are sent to them daily in ice-packed private cars.

and waited and waited, but in vain. Later when out on a stroll he came upon a hollow with a bottle of milk. He watched without making her presence known. Soon a bear appeared fearlessly and gave the cub a drink. When, however, he tried to take the bottle away in order to share it with the other cub, the cub refused. The mother bear asserted her authority and gave the obsequious cub a wallop. This settled the dispute, and only demonstrated one of the many almost human instincts of the black bear.

Captain Bernier, for 23 years in the polar regions north of Canada in his trusty boat Arctic, which since 1904 has sailed hundreds of thousands of miles in the dangerous waters of Greenland, Labrador, Hudson's Bay, Baffin Land and similar regions, hasn't given up his faith in the future of the Hudson's Bay route to Europe.

"I believe it is the route of tomorrow," he told newspapermen in Toronto.

"It will be a great thing for the north country, if a railway goes in there and opens it up. I consider the Hudson's Bay railway, the Hudson's Bay route and the establishment of a port on the bay a matter that concerns the West chiefly.

"The people of the West will use the railway, they will be the ones that will benefit from it. They should be the ones to decide on the building of a harbor.

"Nelson will take a lot of money to make into a satisfactory port," Captain Bernier went on. "Churchill is much better. At Churchill they can build their sea walls and so forth on solid rock so that it will stay. At Nelson they can only build on clay which means they will have to put in a foundation first."

Captain Bernier has a profound faith in the future of the north country. He believes that there are vast resources in mineral and other wealth to be obtained by enterprise.

Asked as to his opinion about the length of time during which the Hudson's Strait is open for navigation, Captain Bernier said: "For a boat which cannot encounter ice at all, the season is limited to three months, but for boats that are built like my own Arctic to stand a certain amount of bumping around, boats like the whaler, and so forth, a season of from four to five months ought to be possible."

Captain Bernier has now completed his 60th year of age. "I have been a captain for 23 years," he said. "I was captain at 37—pretty young, eh?"

His one regret is that he was never able to make the North Pole expedition. He was all ready to set out in 1904, he says. He had provisions arranged for six years, and plans worked out to the minutest detail. But something came along that disrupted his schemes, and now he is afraid it is too late. "I wouldn't be setting out now," he confessed. "If I thought I could last long enough to carry it out successfully."

Captain Bernier has had the remarkable luck of cruising around in the dangerous north 23 years and never having a serious accident with his trusty ship. "By watching the action of the ice, one comes to have a wonderful knowledge of it," he said. "The important thing for an explorer to learn is that he must work with nature. Even Eskimoes, who have travelled so much in Arctic regions, has sometimes made the mistake of not calculating far enough ahead, and being sure he had natural forces working on his side."

Saskatchewan Creamery Butter

Reported Sixteen Per Cent Increase in Production Over Last Year

Production of creamery butter in Saskatchewan during August amounted to 107,284,483 lbs., as compared with 92,847,245 in the same month a year ago, according to a report issued by the Provincial Dairy Commissioner. The cumulative production for the first eight months of this year is 12,452,933 lbs., compared with 11,556,843 lbs. an increase of 10 per cent in the corresponding period of 1925.

Buttermakers of Saskatchewan were particularly successful with their exhibitors at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto and the Central Canada Exhibition at Ottawa this year. At both exhibitions the prices were awarded on the group system and Saskatchewan buttermakers were near the top of the list in practically every class. ## Notable Vessels Of Former Days

Montreal shipping men were reminded of the old days when Montreal harbor was filled with sailing vessels and timber ships, when a model of the good barge Snowdrop was presented to the Navy League of Canada on the Cairn-Thompson freighter, Cairn, by the Cairn Line of Steamships, Limited. This model, together with a smaller one of the Cairn, was formally given to the Navy League's president, Mr. Sam Harris, by Col. W. L. Gear, vice-president of the Robert Redford Co., Limited.

The presentation took place on July 27th and attending it were many well-known shipping men and members of the League. Among the guests were Dr. Milton Hervey, Mr. F. W. Harris, Mr. T. F. Tribby, Captain Symons, Captain Millett, of the Port of London Authority, who was visiting the Port of Montreal; Captain Brown, and other commissioners and port wardens as well as members of the Press and officials of the Robert Redford Co., Limited.

A Youthful Cabinet

Present One is Youngest of Any Since Confederation

An Ottawa writer asserts that the King cabinet is the youngest Canadian cabinet since Confederation. That is, the ages of its eighteen members average less than those of any other. The average is 52 years, the age of the premier, Mr. Robb is the oldest minister and he is no patriarch, being only 67. The baby of the cabinet is Lucien Cannon, 39. Mr. Cannon is three years older than Sir Wilfred Daurier was when he entered the Mackenzie cabinet in 1877, and six years older than Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper was when he entered the Macdonald cabinet in 1888.

NOW PLAN TO COMPLETE H. B. ROAD IN 1927

Saskatoon.—The pioneer gang rebuilding the existing line of the Hudson's Bay Railway has reached the end of steel at Kettle Rapids and decision has been made to construct 18 miles of the gap between the Rapids and Fort Nelson this fall, and early winter.

The purpose of this is to reach the Limestone River so that the concrete footings of the steel bridge to be built there can be put in this winter assuring completion of the rails into Fort Nelson in 1927. One other steel bridge has to be built over the Athol River farther along.

About 3,100 men are at work on the road and most of these are likely to be kept at work all winter clearing the right of way, etc.

About 600 feet of trestle work on the north side of Kettle Rapids is being repaired with new timbers at once and as soon as this is done the pioneer gang will continue laying rails to the Limestone on the existing grade which is stated to be in good condition along this stretch.

Extension of the work past Kettle Rapids ends any possibility of the line being diverted to Fort Churchill, as the Kettle is the last point at which this can be done.

Solution For Canada's Population Problem

Providing For Youth Already Here Says Ontario's Farmers

Toronto.—The solution of Canada's population problem should be found not by expensive immigration schemes directed toward the South of Europe, but by providing opportunities for the youth already in the country and for selected ones prepared to emigrate from the Mother Land, Premier G. H. Ferguson declared in an address to the young men's section of the Young Men's Christian Association here.

"I do not think any boy is a delinquent," the Premier said. "Their errors are largely due to environment and can be corrected by providing improved surroundings."

Canada Holds Envious Place

Stands Second In World In Development of Telephones

Montreal.—"Canada stands second in the world in telephone development," declared P. A. McFarlane, Montreal, president of the Telephone Association of Canada, in his annual report presented at the opening session of the sixth annual convention of the association, which took place here.

"In 1925 there were 1,072,454 telephones in service in Canada, against 902,990 in 1921, which is an increase of 170,564," he continued.

"The total investment increased from $168,678,329 in 1924 to $193,884,378 in 1925."

"The question of transcontinental long distance telephony is still progressing."

Ban On U.S. Picture

Decide Not to Show Picture Showing British Escort of Troops

Renewed efforts designed to lift the ban on the United States film "Phantom of the Opera" the arrival of which a year ago raised a storm of protest in the press because British troops were used to escort it from Southampton to London, have failed.

The British Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association voted finally not to show the picture. Representatives of Carl Laemmle, the producer, gave assurance that all parts of a film showing the British escort of troops had been turned over to the war office but the latter still stands by its declaration made last year that the use of the picture was brought about by a "clever, humiliating, advertising hoax."

United States Is Criticized

Pointed Placard Placed on Wall of League of Nations Building

Geneva.—Criticism of the United States was voiced in a placard which was found posted on the marble slab in the wall of the League of Nations building which commemorates the memory of Woodrow Wilson as founder of the league.

The placard read: "In considering him as the founder of the League of Nations, President Wilson should be considered in a personal sense and not as president of the United States. The American people have done nothing to deserve that their president should be designated as the founder of the league."

Two British Cruisers Visit Philadelphia

LORD BYNG OF VIMY

London.—The Canadian Press has learned from an unofficial but authoritative source that Baron Byng of Vimy had been created Viscount.

The former governor-general of Canada was received by the king today and he and Lady Byng later had lunch with their majesties.

The retired governor-general, who is 64 years of age, was created the first Baron Byng of Vimy in 1919, choosing the title in commemoration of the exploits of the Canadians in capturing Vimy Ridge while under his leadership. He commanded the Canadian Army Corps in France for a year. Baron Byng holds many honors. He was made K.C.M.G. in 1915; G.C.B. in 1916; G.C.B. in 1919 and G.C.M.G. in 1921.

Find Gold In Volcano Dust

Russian Peasants Had Farms Destroyed by Recent Eruption

Berlin.—Working day and night as they pan gold from the dust of a recent volcanic outbreak, peasants of Kertch, Russia, and the Sea of Azov, are forgetting their farms that were destroyed and praying for another eruption.

When a supposedly extinct volcano near Kertch discharged lava and volcanic dust recently the peasants fled in terror.

Upon learning they found that the dust contained appreciable quantities of gold. Thousands of them immediately sought to gain riches from what had been discharged.

Heavy Wheat Yields

Fred Witt, NE-34, 20-37-17, threshed 247 bushels of wheat from seven by 90 rods of land getting approximately 60 1/2 bushels to the acre.

To The Land of the "Midnight Sun"

Tourist traffic throughout the world has grown to such proportions that it is recognized as one of the greatest revenue producers in the world. And luxurious methods of travel have gone on apace. Bearing this out to a marked degree, was the Norwegian Cruise conducted this summer by the British and Continental Touring Club of London, which had under charter for the better part of a month, the Canadian Pacific liner, Montclair. When this private cruise through the fjords of Norway was organized, the directors of the club sought for a mode of travel whereby their members

May Take Dispute To Higher Court

Alberta Act Fight May Go to Privy Council

Winnipeg.—The Ottawa correspondent of The Tribune says:

The Department of Justice is taking steps to proceed with the reference to the Supreme Court in regard to the constitutionality of the Alberta Autonomy Act in so far as it relates to school funds and school lands. The case, however, will not come up before the winter sittings of the court unless a special hearing is arranged meanwhile.

It is considered very improbable that the projected legislation returning to the province its natural resources will be proceeded with until the court decides on this question and if, as is possible, judgment is appealed to the Privy Council by one side or the other further delay would seem likely.

Noted English Scholar Dead

Dr. Abbott Was Most Famous Headmaster of City of London School

London.—Rev. Dr. Edwin Abbott who was the most famous headmaster that the famous City of London School ever possessed and whose profound learning had an almost overpowering influence upon serious students of all ages, is dead after having been bedridden for seven years. He was in his 88th year.

Born in London and educated at the City of London School and Cambridge University, Dr. Abbott was assistant master of King Edward's School, Birmingham, and assistant master of the City of London School in 1865 and continued in this position until 1889. He was elected preacher at Oxford University in 1877. He was honorary fellow at St. John's College, Cambridge University, 1912, and fellow of the British Academy 1913.

Stay Of Execution

Russell Scott Is Again Saved From The Gallows

Chicago.—Forty-eight hours before the time set for his execution and for the third time in 15 months, the hanging of Russell Scott for the murder of Joseph Maurer in a drug store holdup was averted.

The state supreme court of Springfield ordered a stay until it can review the proceedings in his last sanity hearing, in which he was found sane after he had spent a year in a state asylum.

The man, who was a vaudeville actor at 20, a Canadian corporation head at 25, and a holdup-man at 33, seemed little moved at the news of his new lease of life. So many times he has been jerked from the gallows back to temporary safety that the methods by which his execution has been four times postponed since 1921 have become largely incomprehensible to him.

ASK FOR HIGHER TARIFF ON FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Ottawa.—The Canadian Horticultural Society wants a seasonal tariff on fruits and vegetables coming into Canada from the United States and at a private sitting of the tariff board they presented their argument through L. F. Burrows, secretary-treasurer. Burrows submitted a memorandum stating that from a survey of conditions in the horticultural areas, the farmers are not prosperous and production has ceased because of lack of prosperity. He gave statistics to show an increasing importation of fruits and vegetables that are produced in Canada as well as of those that are not produced here. The increased importation of the former in 1925 exceeded by $17,592,211 what was imported in 1917. In the fiscal year ended March 31 last, the imports were $18,613,920. This, it is calculated, represented the production of 6,897 farms and enough to provide work for 42,000 people.

The proposition put forward was for a sliding scale of duties on fruit and vegetables which would be highest just before the Canadian product comes on the market so that the appetite of consumers will not have been satisfied beforehand. The present duty is on an ad valorem basis and instead of this a specific duty is suggested of two cents a pound on cherries all the year, two cents a pound on peaches, July 20 to October 31, one cent on pears, July 21 to December 31, one cent on apples, all the year, three cents on strawberries and raspberries in June and July, three cents a pound on canteloupes and muskmelons, July 21 to December 31, three cents each on other melons, one-half cent on cranberries and 20 cents a box on apples, all the year.

In the vegetable list, the seasonal tariff suggested covers 26 different varieties, including two cents a pound on snapbeans from June to December, two cents a cauliflower from 15 to November 20, three cents on peas, May to September, one and a half cents on lettuce all the year and two cents on cucumbers, May to November. Before the board makes any recommendation to the Government there will be a public hearing of the other side that comprises the dealers and consumers.

Competitive Cable Rates

Would Establish Direct Service to Canada For British News

Ottawa.—"If the Governments of this Dominion and the United Kingdom would only see their way to establish a competitive rate on cables between London and this country, you would have to this country a direct service for British news," declared Sir Roderick Jones, chairman of Reuters' News Agency, in the course of an address before the Canadian Club.

The establishment of a competitive cable rate between London and Canada, which would enable a greater volume of British news to be brought to this country direct instead of by New York, would, stated Sir Roderick, be a fine act of public policy and a very beneficial one from an imperial point of view.

Property Belonging to State Was Removed From Hohenzollern Castles Berlin.—Removal from Hohenzollern castles and palaces in Berlin of art works valued at from three to four million dollars, and their discovery later in the hands of a local art dealer, may lead to prosecution of the former Crown Prince of Germany, according to press reports.

The property, which was supposed to belong to the state after the overthrow of the monarchy, includes the Watteau painting "The Dance," various Rubens paintings, porcelain vases and two marble vases which formerly belonged to Madame Pompadour.

1—Crayon sketch of Viscount Willington drawn on board Empress of Scotland, just prior to the vessel calling for Canada.
2—Sketch of Viscount Willington drawn on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland just prior to the vessel's departure for Canada.
3—Lady (latter) Cairn Terrier, belonging to Their Lordships which gained instant popularity.
4—Sketch of Lord Bessborough, Governor-General of Canada, showing a map of the world the various positions he has held.
5—Canadian Pacific Flagship Empress of Scotland with carrier, The Empress of Scotland, to Canada.

Their Excellencies Viscount and Viscountess Willington made many friends on their voyage from England to Quebec on board the Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Scotland, when His Lordship came here in October to become Governor-General of the Dominion. They paid visits to all parts of the vessel chatting with new settlers for Canada and presiding at the various functions that take place aboard ship during an ocean voyage. Sharing their popularity was their Cairn Terrier, Misty, who was friends with everyone except perhaps a plump Chow who looked to him as though he might develop into a dangerous rival.

Canada's thirteenth Governor-General had a fine reception when the ship docked at Quebec. He struck a tactful note when he told his French-Canadian audience he too could claim descent from the Normans and that French blood flowed in his veins equally as in theirs. "In this country," he said, "the descendants of our two races have worked for many years under the British Crown for a common purpose and object, namely, to promote the welfare and prosperity of the people of this wonderful country."

First impressions are vital in establishing successful relations and perhaps no impression gave so cordial an effect as that of His Lordship's speech about the Empress of Scotland, which was broadcast all over Canada. In it he said: "I wonder if I may venture to add one word of rather an intimate and personal character. It is this—in wishing my fellow-passengers the best of good luck in the future and all health and happiness they can possibly expect and obtain, may I ask them one and all to give an occasional thought—a kindly thought—to one who is about to undertake very great responsibilities for the British Empire in the great Dominion of Canada."

That is the true democratic note, sounded with modesty and feeling and sure of an unreserved response throughout the length and breadth of Canada.

Here and There

Victoria—Twenty head of grade Oxford ewes, two years old, from Mayne Island, have been sold to Japanese buyers. This makes a new departure in the sheep industry of the island, being the first of the home production to be sent to Japan.

It is estimated that southern British Columbia will produce 3,217,000 boxes of apples this season, this is about 700,000 boxes more than last year's production. Arrangements are being made for a heavy export business to Great Britain, as well as to the Prairies and Eastern Canada.

A regular airmail service has been established between Osaka in Japan and Darin in South Manchuria, two Japanese built "Kawanishi" planes being used. The service is daily, and is being sponsored by the "Osaka Mainichi" one of the largest newspapers in Japan whose aviators recently flew to Berlin.

Moose Jaw—One thousand head of Western Canadian light horses purchased for the Soviet government were assembled here. The horses, which are all light, are being bought for the Russian government with Russian funds placed in Canadian banks for that purpose. A similar purchase was made last year and the repeating of the order indicates satisfaction with the Canadian stock.

The increase in the net profits of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the first eight months of the year ending August 31st is $2,814,285.76, according to a financial statement issued at the headquarters of the Canadian Pacific at Montreal. This is the increase in profits as compared with the profits for the same period in 1925. The increase in the gross earnings over the same period in 1925 is stated at $12,991,284.57.

"Hell-Boaring Canyon," the scene of a dramatic incident in John Murray Gibbon's new novel "Eyes of a Gypsy" is the actual name of a remote valley in the Canadian Pacific Rockies as known to the guides and hunters, although the Geographic Board of the Canadian Government has just changed it to a less romantic name—"Nuna Creek." The reason for the change in name is that there is another Hell Boaring Canyon in the Rockies which claims a prior right to the name.

The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston, one of the oldest military organizations in the United States, being founded as an offshoot of the famous Artillery Company of London, in 1630, held their 289th annual field day and march just at Montreal, arriving at the Canadian Pacific Plaza View Station on October 2nd. About 250 members of this organization, representing the oldest families in the State of Massachusetts, took part in this event.

"Dean Inge has a very imperfect appreciation of the feeling of India towards England, when he prophesies that India's attitude to the Mother Country in the event of a future crisis, is doubtful," declared Diwan Bahadur Sir T. Vijayarajavacharya, Indian potentate who sailed for England on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France recently after a lengthy tour of the Dominion. The Diwan discounts the gloomy prophecies contained in Dean Inge's new book entitled "England."

For the third consecutive year the first aid team of the Canadian Pacific Police Constabulary at the Windsor Creek Station, Montreal, carried off the "Gastus Cup" symbolic of the highest marks obtained in the Quebec District C.P.R. first aid competition. The examination was conducted at the P. Ace Viger Hotel in Montreal, September 29th, by F. R. Baty, chief surgeon of the Canadian Pacific. Four other teams were in the field including two from Argus Shops in Montreal, and one from Ottawa and Quebec.

Death of Mrs. W. Robertson.

General regret was felt in town and district on the demise, last week, of Elizabeth Robertson, wife of Mr Wm Robertson and daughter of the well known old-time couple Mr and Mrs Henry Oppertshausen Sr. Deceased had been ailing for some time, and was taken recently, for treatment, to a City hospital, where she passed away on the 13th.

Deceased was in her 30th year, was born in Elmira, Waterloo Co., Ontario, and came west at an early age. She was a member of Stony Plain Women's Institute; took an active interest in the work of the Ladies' Aid of the Union Church; and was a very energetic worker on the ladies' committee of the Agricultural Society the years the latter was in operation.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, one little daughter Jean; her father and mother; 5 sisters, Mrs W M Washburn and Mrs Geo Rehkopf; Mrs F Groat and Mrs R Pfeifle, Edmonton, and Miss C Oppertshausen, Grant's Pass, Ore; also 4 brothers, Henry, Otto, George, who are in business here; and Charles, who is in business at Enderby, B. C.

The funeral took place in Edmonton on Sunday, from the undertaking parlors of Foster & Paterson. Rev W J Whelan, pastor of the local Union church, officiated.

The remains were followed to the burying ground by a large number, relatives and friends of deceased.

Spruce Grove News

On Saturday evening shortly before 6 o'clock, while the threshing outfit belonging to Ph Schram was proceeding slowly along the roadside to the farm of the owner, and when half way between the Grove and St Joseph's church an auto from Edmonton came in contact with it while on a grade. The car was driven by Adolf Douke, of Carleton Place, a farmer of Carleton district. The car apparently had swerved as it struck the front of the steam engine, the left front fender getting the full force of the blow, battering it up against the side of the car; part of the wind shield and three of the wheels were demolished as the car swung and headed for the ditch. The driver suffered a slight injury to his foot by having it caught in the pedals. The other occupant of the car escaped injury, but a basket of plums was a total loss. Dave Bell was summoned, and the damaged car escorted to Dave's Auto Hospital. Mr Douke was taken to Stony Plain in Mr James Smith's car, and later driven home by Ed Summerfield of the Stony Plain Service Garage.

Mrs Ray Graydon visited last week with her parents, Mr and Mrs H Loeblich.

Dan Brox is convalescing after a recent attack of illness.

Mr Rudey Heichen returned from Boyle on Saturday, and is now with the U. G. G. elevator.

The Harvest Home services on Sunday last in St. Matthew's Church were well attended, the pastor, Rev. G. Poetzsch, conducting the service.
